Head Start – Japanese from Scratch offers curriculum planners, language teachers and co-ordinators from UK primary and secondary schools the opportunity to get to grips with some of the issues specific to the teaching of Japanese.

This free one day course will be of interest to

- ✓ Senior Managers and Heads of MFL at secondary schools planning to introduce Japanese in the near future, or those that have just started offering Japanese
- ✓ Primary language co-ordinators with or without Japanese skills, interested in introducing Japanese

Lead by experienced Japanese Language Advisors, the day will include a Japanese taster experience, sessions on exams and resources, as well as networking opportunities with colleagues who have introduced Japanese successfully. Participants will have access to the specialist library and information facilities. The course is free of charge. Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

The first 10 participants applying for the Head Start Course are invited to attend the '2007 Conference on Educational Cooperation with Japan' at the British Council, London on Wednesday 28 February 2007. Keynote speaker Dr Lid King, National Director for Languages, DfES, and over 100 guests and speakers from the primary and secondary sector with experience in teaching Japanese and teaching about Japan are expected to attend.

Deadline for applications: Friday 26th January!
