The Japan Foundation’s Communication Policy

Introduction

The Japan Foundation is a specialized organization that carries out comprehensive international cultural exchange programs across the globe. The Japan Foundation offers opportunities for people to interact through various projects and by providing information in order to increase the world and Japan’s understanding of each other.

Today, the entire world interacts freely across national borders through social media such as Twitter and blogs. The Japan Foundation believes that now is the best opportunity to promote its programs more effectively.

The Japan Foundation will actively utilize social media, using this Policy as a basis.
