The Japan Foundation is pleased to announce the launch of its new website. To mark the event, the Foundation is to hold an opening ceremony on 31 August at their headquarters in London. The website will be launched at 16:30 BST.

To order the site, visit www.japanfoundation.org.uk/launch and more about the event. The ceremony will be attended by the Japanese Ambassador to the UK.

Professor Arthur Dobson to receive Japan Foundation Award

Professor Arthur Dobson will receive the Japan Foundation Award on 31 August at their headquarters in London. The award is given in recognition of an outstanding contribution to the understanding of Japan in the UK. Professor Dobson is a leading expert on Japanese literature and culture and has written extensively on the subject.

New Japanese-Language Proficiency Tests

The Japan Foundation is launching new Japanese-Language Proficiency Tests (JLPT) which will be held in December 2009. The tests will be held in London, as well as in other cities around the world. The JLPT is the most widely recognized test of Japanese language proficiency and is used by universities, employers, and organizations around the world.

New website

The Japan Foundation is launching a new website on 31 August. The website will be a one-stop-shop for information about Japan in the UK, including news, events, and resources. The website will be launched at 16:30 BST.

JFnews

Japan Foundation Award for Professor Arthur Dobson

The Japan Foundation is pleased to announce the launch of its new website. To mark the event, the Foundation is to hold an opening ceremony on 31 August at their headquarters in London. The website will be launched at 16:30 BST.

To order the site, visit www.japanfoundation.org.uk/launch and more about the event. The ceremony will be attended by the Japanese Ambassador to the UK.

Professor Arthur Dobson to receive Japan Foundation Award

Professor Arthur Dobson will receive the Japan Foundation Award on 31 August at their headquarters in London. The award is given in recognition of an outstanding contribution to the understanding of Japan in the UK. Professor Dobson is a leading expert on Japanese literature and culture and has written extensively on the subject.

New Japanese-Language Proficiency Tests

The Japan Foundation is launching new Japanese-Language Proficiency Tests (JLPT) which will be held in December 2009. The tests will be held in London, as well as in other cities around the world. The JLPT is the most widely recognized test of Japanese language proficiency and is used by universities, employers, and organizations around the world.

New website

The Japan Foundation is launching a new website on 31 August. The website will be a one-stop-shop for information about Japan in the UK, including news, events, and resources. The website will be launched at 16:30 BST.